Philip Clifford, Ph.D.
Professor
Associate Dean for Research
University of Illinois at Chicago

This session is geared toward faculty who mentor postdocs and graduate students and will focus on mentor/mentee communication. The interactive workshop will use case studies from mentor training sessions conducted at the University of Illinois and with the National Research Mentoring Network.

Dr. Clifford is a cardiovascular physiologist with an active research laboratory and the Director of Mentoring for the UIC Center for Clinical and Translational Sciences. He is an author of 18 career development articles and the widely acclaimed career planning website, myIDP. He also contributed to the AAMC GREAT Group Compact Between Postdoctoral Appointees and their Mentors and the National Postdoctoral Association Core Competencies. He is a fellow of the American Heart Association, the American College of Sports Medicine, and the American Physiological Society. Dr. Clifford serves on the editorial boards of several physiological journals, participates on grant review panels at the NIH, NASA, and the American Heart Association and is a member of the Anesthesia and Respiratory Devices Panel at the FDA.
