REPORT FROM THE CHAIR OF THE FACULTY

A text version of Dr. Walker’s remarks to the Board is included as Attachment B. Mr. Greczyn said that the progress on the Faculty Manual has been admirable and commended the Faculty Senate on its hard work. He said that it is more important to “get it right than to get it done quickly.” Dr. Walker and everyone involved should be complimented, he said. Mr. Brody concurred. He said that what you think you know and what you know are two different things and that it might be helpful for the Board in making decisions to have a better idea about what the typical faculty week is like.

REPORT FROM THE SGA

SGA President Tremayne Smith gave remarks to the board. A text version of his comments is included as Attachment C.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF VISITORS

Chair of the Board of Visitors, Mr. Reid Overcash, gave the report to the Board. He gave an update on the last Board of Visitors meeting on February 4, 2011. The Engagement Committee is chaired by Steve Brown who is also the Vice Chair of the Board of Visitors. The Engagement Committee is the “keeper of the watch list” of prospective new members. The Legislative Committee, chaired by Terry Yeargan is the largest committee, but it is highly organized and very engaged. They stand ready to help when called upon. The next meeting is May 20 in Raleigh, and as always, the BOT are invited to attend.

Assistant Secretary to the Board
Chancellor’s Remarks
February 25, 2011

Thank you Chairman Brody.
I want to address four topics today:

- A brief summary of the budget process;
- The recent visit by Dr. Ross to ECU
- A legislative update; and
- The James R. Talton Leadership Award

The Budget
Most of the Board heard the budget presentation yesterday and I won’t repeat that. Suffice it to say that the higher education budget is pretty frightening. We face threats from a number of sources and we won’t know the results for several more months. We are already an underfunded university, and that certainly does not help.

That said, we have sound plans and we are moving forward. We will do our part and we will maintain our mission and our priorities… we just may not be able to do all that we have historically done.

We continue to communicate directly with every constituency of the university, from the faculty senate budget committee to every academic college. We have now completed 3 college-level budget forums, with 7 to go. The academic council is reviewing every budget plan and we have strong campus guidelines for how we spend scarce resources. We have a strong resolution of support from the Senate Budget committee and we appreciate the work of Scot MacGilvray and that committee.

The key to our future is to continue to make a difference for North Carolina and I hope each of you helps to tell our story. It is a great story…. Ranging from PJ Schenarts who just returned from Afghanistan…his 4th tour there… to the work of the Health Disparities Center under Hope Landrine to the assistance we are providing to communities from West Greenville to New Bern to Tillery.

Ross Visit
Tom Ross and Jeff Davies, his chief of staff, visited our campus about one week ago and Tom said they had an excellent visit. I think they caught the Pirate spirit and by the end of the day both were pronouncing A-R-R-G-G-H-H at a reasonable level. I don’t think we have to convince them what we mean for North Carolina… they get it!

During their visit, they frequently asked what our challenges are and I believe they are ready to help us with those challenges as we move forward. They know that the bio-science building probably heads that list…before Howell Science literally falls down. They also know that better state support for health sciences and indigent care is vital.
ECU did a lot of preparation for this visit and I want to thank John Durham and Philip Rogers for ensuring everything was ready and on-time. We ran better than a German train. In addition, all seven sessions were handled with quality. I thought our faculty and student groups were especially on point and I know they made an impression on our visitors.

Legislative Update

Philip Rogers and I have been working hard on legislative matters, with significant help from our Board of Visitors. Philip spends so much time in Raleigh I think they will have to get him an office. It is only a matter of time before he is Governor and I’ll have to call him “Your Honor” or “Your Majesty…”

The challenge this year is to build new relationships with 42 new legislators. Plus, many of the decision making processes are different… so it requires constant work.

I think our work is paying off in terms of our key item this year, operational dollars for the Dental School. I hope you have noticed that the Governor included full funding in her budget and we are hoping that the legislature approves this aspect of the Governor’s budget. We are fortunate to have several Republican co-sponsors for this specific bill and have received positive feedback from the leadership regarding the importance of completing the investment already made by the state. This funding is required for our continued accreditation, which gets reviewed every 2 years during the early stages of operation of the School.

It was very encouraging that Gov. Perdue made a brief visit to the dental school construction site last week on the day that she released her budget. She was very supportive of completing that project.

In addition, other important items this session include:

- Our request to retain rental receipts from the new Cancer Joint Venture, which would amount to $500,000 dollars each year. While these funds are very important to our funding of cancer services, we face an uphill battle to keep these receipts… primarily because of the state budget gap.

- From a system-wide perspective, the UNC Board of Governors will continue to promote three strategic priorities during the biennium: (1) Minimizing the cuts to the university and maximizing our flexibility; (2) Enrollment Growth Funding; and (3) Need-based financial aid.

- On Wednesday of this week, Republicans announced spending targets for each major committee within state government. While no final decisions have been made, Republicans intend to spend a total of $10.5 billion on the three educational entities of the state (K-12, Community Colleges, and Universities) for the biennium, which would account for approximately a 12% cut if divided equally among all three educational entities. Governor Perdue’s budget, which was released last week, called for $11.2 billion in spending on education or a 9.5% cut to the university system.
James R. Talton Award for Leadership

Many of you knew Jim Talton and he was certainly a special person for me during my first two years. He was a prime reason I came to ECU.

I am very proud to say that we have created the James R. Talton Leadership Award and I want to thank Austin Bunch for the idea and the work to get it done. The Award will be given each year to recognize a member of our community… student, faculty or staff … who, like Jim, exemplifies servant leadership, strong character, and ethical behavior, and “uncommon commitment to service.” I look forward to recognizing the first recipient of the Talton Leadership Award at University Awards Day on April 26. I look forward to recognizing the first recipient of the Talton Leadership Award at University Awards Day on April 26.

That concludes my remarks today and I’m happy to answer any questions.
Faculty Senate Chair Remarks
February 25, 2011

I. Greetings - from the faculty and the faculty senate
My remarks today will briefly summarize the many activities/issues facing the faculty at East Carolina University.

II. Budget – As you are all aware, the budget has everyone buzzing; but the manner in which our administration is handling and informing the faculty is commendable. As you heard yesterday, the administrative team consisting of the Chancellor, Vice Chancellor for Finance (Dr. Niswander), the Provost, Vice Chancellor for Health Sciences, and respective Deans are meeting for budget forums with each individual college. I have been asked to attend each of the forums and am keeping notes on the questions/concerns from the faculty in each of the forums. In the three forums that have been held, concerns and questions have been unit specific, but common in the theme including questions about 1) fixed-term faculty seniority and loss of positions (in the event that fixed-term faculty are not rehired), 2) issues surrounding funding model and affects on class size, 3) furloughs, 4) cuts or duplication of programs and relationship to preservation or expansion of existing degree programs.

I applaud the administration in taking valuable time to meet and provide the faculty with budget information, as it unfolds, and how the university will plan for budget cuts.

I also want to publically thank the Chancellor for involving two of our standing university academic committees in this process – the University Budget Committee and the Educational Policies and Planning Committee (commonly known as EPPC) in planning and communicating to faculty about this current budget situation. EPPC has been charged by the Chancellor to assist in defining the criteria for potential program prioritization (including, but not limited to – consolidation criteria, and criteria for elimination and curtailment of programs).

The Chancellor, Provost, in addition to the other members of the Executive Council have consented to this faculty infusion and shared governance approach and have been transparent in their communication with the faculty from the beginning regarding this budget dilemma.

So, I see three primary areas for faculty involvement in this budget situation –
   a) Educating the faculty on the current budget and management of such and how the budget will be affected depending on the NC State budget outcomes and affects to UNC, ECU, and to our academic programs. Also this approach will allow the faculty to understand decisions of the Dean’s, Vice Chancellors and Chancellor.
   b) Allowing faculty to have a role in determining criteria for program prioritization and budget management through various committees. This does not exist in this manner in all UNC universities.
   c) Need to tell our story – General Public needs to better informed about the many roles of faculty and of the excellence of the faculty we have at East Carolina University. I would like to execute a campaign to obtain as many stories as possible on faculty that showcase the scholarship of the discipline, the intricacies of the curriculum (including undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral levels), relationship of these areas to research and creative activities and to service for the community and beyond. We need profiles that demonstrate the excellence and commitment of individual faculty across our many degree programs.

III. Faculty Manual - We continue to plug along with this endeavor. As I stated in my remarks in November, the Faculty Senate and its committees are truly scrutinizing each section and are thoughtfully considering all contemporary issues during this review. 82 of 131 have been and we still have two months left in the semester. As an example, as we were discussing a section on Weapons policy, one of the senators raised a question about when a faculty member may be on an underwater archeology mission on a shipwreck and uncovers a cannon or cannonball, would this be considered possession of a weapon. Once we found the reference to the statue, we determined that this would not be in violation of this policy! A little humor is always helpful in a faculty senate meeting.

The majority of the faculty manual will be completed by April, however, there are a few sections that may be under discussion and may delay completion under the fall. Issues surrounding personnel policies (i.e. annual report) faculty constitution, and appellate committee procedures may be delayed pending further discussion on professional ethics and updated committee membership and charges. These pending sections, however, have been under discussion but further research and vetting is needed in these areas. However, anything is possible and there could be a possibility for completion pending these discussions.

I have an updated matrix for Mr. Brody, Mr. Grezchan, and Chancellor Ballard. Mr. Brody, in the event that we have not completed the manual when you rotate off the Board, we will invite you back for our celebration when it is completed!

IV. Other activities - Faculty are busy with many endeavors, in addition to their primary roles in teaching, engaging in research and mentoring students in research, and other scholarship activities, and clinical services – with campus priorities including SACS reaffirmation, developing and establishing standards and process of review for online teaching, in determining Key Performance Indicators that define and measure outcomes for the university strategic plan.

V. Gratitude - I end with an expression of gratitude for this great university and for all the players, administrative, faculty, staff, and students, who make ECU the best university. We are fortunate to have senior administration that truly value shared governance and the roles of the faculty in our many initiatives. We are also fortunate to have such an excellent faculty who are dedicating additional time and work into the revision of the Faculty Manual. We will have the best manual in the system when we are finished. Also, thanks to the BOT for your support as well, especially in recognizing the work that has been devoted to the revision and reorganization of the Faculty Manual.
Since our last meeting, the Student Government has been working very very hard and getting a lot of things done.

To conclude my report…The SGA will continue to operate to live out the motto of ECU which is Sevire- to serve. But as any servant will tell you, it can be easy to get burned out in your duties, so one thing I have committed my team to for the remainder of the semester is the notion of teamwork and relying on each other taken from the Biblical story of the Tower of Babel, where God say that they were building a tower and he remarked, “ if as one people speaking the same language they have begun to do this, then nothing they plan to do will be impossible for them.” So, we will all speak the same language, be on the same page and we will continue to serve and to fulfill the motto of this years SGA Administration and that is LET DO WORK…and so we shall.

Naming Proposals

Brinson – Christian Ecology Laboratory in Howell Science Building. $20K was raised by students, faculty and staff in honor of two professors (Mark Brinson and Bob Christian) Professor Brinson passed away unexpectedly January 3. There is a service on campus in March and it would be meaningful to family and friends if naming of the lab could be part of this ceremony. Therefore the committee approved the proposal and would like to ask for full Board approval today rather than waiting 30 days.

Additional Basketball Practice Facility Naming Opportunities were presented and approved by the committee. The full Board will see these individually as donors make the necessary gifts. So no action is required by the Board at this time.

Second Century Campaign Update

Mr. Dowdy shared the year end campaign total of $190,216,000. Among the larger year-end commitments were $1 million from BB&T, a Distinguished Professorship in Science Education from Tom & Liz Taft. Mr. Dowdy also expressed appreciation for commitments from Trustees Bob Grezcy and Ken Chalk, both of whom are endowing Access Scholarships.

Mr. Dowdy shared with the committee that the campaign will run through the end of the calendar year and then other mini-campaigns supporting other areas of interest like the Honors College will be initiated.

ECU Brand Enhancement Task Force

Mr. Dowdy discussed the newly formed ECU Brand Enhancement Task Force to the committee and explained that the goal is to evaluate the reputation of ECU, compare the market research from 10 years ago and obtain new market research. Also, the task force will assess the communications/marketing organization in place and evaluate or recommend how to organize more effectively.

Rationale for Naming

Bob Christian and Mark Brinson are arguably the two most accomplished faculty members to have served in the Department of Biology. Both are Distinguished Research Professors, recognized with career achievement awards from the ECU Division of Research and Graduate Studies. Dr. Christian is also a Harriot College Distinguished Professor while Brinson was recently a runner-up for UNC System’s Oliver Max Gardner Award, for the faculty member “who...has made the greatest contribution to the welfare of the human race.” Each has brought millions of dollars in grants to Eastern Carolina and trained dozens of graduate students as well as thousands of undergraduates. Moreover, both were hired at a time when research was a lesser focus at ECU. Their contributions were critical to making the Department of Biology a research leader on campus and an international standout in research on the ecology of wetlands.

Both Dr. Brinson and Dr. Christian are retiring this year. In honor of their retirement, we wish to name an Ecology laboratory after them—rather than, say, starting a scholarship that may not be large enough to make a real difference in students’ lives. The laboratory has an area of approximately 730 square feet. At present there are be virtually no named rooms in Howell, perhaps owing to the building’s decrepit condition. Nevertheless, many alums have fond memories of their time in Biology.

We envision the funds raised toward the room-naming going into the Biology scholarship fund. We intend to issue scholarships using the funds directly, rather than from interest from an endowment.

We will initially pursue fund-raising in conjunction with a symposium to be held Aug. 28, 2010, in honor of Brinson and Christian’s retirements. Then, and until our fund-raising goal is met, we will invite contributions to the scholarship fund in honor of the Brinson-Christian retirements. Each such contribution will be documented.

FARMVILLE, N.C.

THIS SURVEY WAS PERFORMED UNDER MY SUPERVISION AND IS TRUE TO THE BEST OF MY KNOWLEDGE AND BELIEF.
PURPOSE and VISION
The goal of this document is to develop a joint statement and plan on behalf of East Carolina University, TRUNA, and the City of Greenville to promote and encourage the long-term stability and viability of the Fifth Street corridor and Tar River University Neighborhood. While it is clear that much has changed since 1907, we will jointly commit to working together as a team to prevent the deterioration of the Tar River University Neighborhood area. For the purposes of this vision statement, the boundaries will include Reade Street to Elm Street and 5th Street to 1st Street.

All relevant parties involved in this discussion share much common ground: we all desire for this area to maintain its historic ambiance – it sets the tone for the welcoming community that we want to protect. Additionally, all constituencies in this area of the community have mutual respect and appreciation for each other and want to encourage consistent and open communication among all involved. All parties agree that it is important for the neighborhood to maintain a sense of its past and retain a primarily residential feel, yet also be open to new uses that are complementary to a residential neighborhood.

ECU, TRUNA, and the City of Greenville commonly support the following key principles and common objectives to sustaining this important area of the Greenville community:

KEY PRINCIPLES of a SUCCESSFUL PARTNERSHIP
- Effective Communication
- Active Participation and Involvement
- Commitment to Improved Relationships
- Respect and Trust

COMMON OBJECTIVES
- Viable, sustainable, and preserved historic character of the community
- Pedestrian and bicycle friendly community
- Safe environment
- Social and friendly
- Diverse
- Support an owner/rental balance by citizens vested in the community
- Mixed Use – Office, Education, Commercial, and Residential where appropriate

As we continue to strive for the long-term stability of this area, we agree to cooperatively undertake the following action items in an effort to encourage consistent attention to this need for our community:

ACTION ITEMS
- The President of TRUNA, the Director of Community Development for the City of Greenville, and the Executive Assistant to the Chancellor at ECU will meet on a regular basis throughout the year to maintain open communication among all organizations.
- This document will be reviewed on an annual basis.
- ECU and the City of Greenville will work to maintain a strong police presence in the Tar River Neighborhood and serve the community in that area as identified in the City-ECU policing agreement.
- Pending a yearly review, measurable success, and budget availability, ECU will continue to work with the City to support code enforcement in the Tar River Neighborhood area as identified in the current agreement.
- All organizations will work cooperatively on zoning and historic preservation issues and recognize that changes may be necessary.

This vision statement is respectfully accepted this XX day of MONTH 2011.

PCMH Update - Steve Lawler, President of PCMH, reported:

- Working with the BSOM to improve the Graduate Medical Education (GME) model – i.e., how it is put together, funding, and opportunities to expand it.
- Clinical innovation and alignment - working with the Health Sciences Division (BSOM, Allied Health, Nursing, & Dentistry) on new innovative models of care and alignment of services.
- Project updates - renovating the call rooms for residents & fellows; Children’s Hospital – ground breaking in June 2011; Pediatric ED – a separate dedicated space to care for children which will be located within the ED.
- Legislative agenda for UHS/PCMH is the tied together with the BSOM – i.e., Upper Payment Limit/Medicaid funding and GME Expansion.

Dr. Horns shared from the Division:

- The Health Sciences Division Senior Leadership has been working on a draft of the Strategic Action Plan for the Division.
- School of Dental Medicine – first class will begin in August 2011; acceptance letters have been issued – all NC residents; received ADEA initial accreditation in early February; several faculty and staff searches are underway; working on an innovative, integrated, and complex curriculum model which will give a comprehensive approach to tracking student learning and progress, construction of the Ross Hall is underway and on track for the Class of 2012; will assume the General Practice Residency program at the BSOM by July 2011.
- East Carolina Heart Institute 4th Floor – building was finished 3 years ago without the 4th floor being completed. 4th floor was intended for research space -- designated for interdisciplinary kinds of research for faculty across multiple disciplines (i.e., Life Sciences programs in BSOM; College Health and Human Performance, Department of Bioenergetics). The Robotics Lab will also be located on the 4th floor. Construction to begin December 2011/January 2012.
- Programs in the Health Sciences Division are very competitive, there are no underperforming programs; outcomes of our graduates demonstrates that our programs are outstanding (i.e., performance on licensure exams and placement of graduates in the workforce)

BSOM Update:

- Dr. Cunningham reported that the BSOM leadership is working to build the BSOM Strategic Plan and has created mind maps and outcomes for the future.
- Dr. Benson reported on the:
  - Cancer Services Joint Venture – The joint venture will kick off on April 11, 2011 and it will be called the Leo Jenkins Cancer Services Corporation. Leases are being reviewed, 3 CONs were approved by the State CON section; an administrator has been hired; details of the transition process for the employees to be employed by ECU or PCMH are being worked out. The new Department of Oncology is being further developed.
  - Health Span Conversion Update – on-line at Firetower Medical Office, ECU Physicians, Internal Medicine, and Cardiovascular Sciences. 5 departments still remain on the old system, Centricity. Working with UHS on the best approach to get the remaining departments on-line.

• Mr. Jowers reported on ECU Physicians financial performance. Total charges billed are down by 1%; wRUV’s are down by 2.3%; all other indicators are positive. Continuing to work closely with the Department Chairs to ensure timely invoicing of contract revenues and follow-up on outstanding receivables.
University Affairs Committee

Campus Safety – Bill Koch

- Bill introduced a few new members of the ECU family that deal with safety.
  - Travis Lewis - Dean of Students Office - Helping coordinating threat assessment for students
  - Lt. Jason Sugg with the ECU police department, a recent graduate of the FBI National Academy
  - Sgt. Kevin Stormer a strong liaison between ECU and the Greenville Police Department
- Bill discussed the recent release of information from the Virginia Tech shooting. We have all learned lessons from these situations. At ECU, the police department now has the clearance to release ECU alerts to campus when the situation arises. There will be an Active Shooter drill in August on the medical campus planned.
- Part 1 crimes are lower on our campus with about 90% of the crimes are larcenies
- ECU is developing a mandatory safety training to roll out in the fall to strengthen our education of students. We want to push this information out in front of students, in particular, with incoming freshmen early in their first semester.
- The blue light emergency phones are being updated from analog to digital which will allow for cameras and monitors to be attached. We are also changing the post colors to purple or gold for better visibility.

Academic Affairs –

- Dr. Austin Bunch, Dr. Elmer Poe and Dr. Rosina Chia discussed the Global Academic Initiatives program. ECU has partnerships with 30 universities in 22 countries to collaborate and educate on cultural understanding on a global scale. He shared some of the accolades and awards for international innovation and global engagements, including the US Department of State’s request for ECU to offer academic curriculum on Global Climate Change and policies.
- Rosina shared some of the core functions of the Global Understanding Course include the courses (Anthropology, Psychology, Sociology and International Studies) which are delivered in real-time video instruction and collaboration. 1,500 students each year are impacted by this course with four college partnership working together for five week sessions. All course sections are delivered in English. Some of the benefits to ECU students include better global perspectives, better understanding of our own culture, increased communication skills, and stronger job opportunities and skills. For ECU as a whole, this is a great cost and time saving piece because we aren’t traveling, but still participating and it is a great complement to study abroad.

Athletics – Terry Holland
The softball stadium was dedicated and opened up with a win over UNC Wilmington last week.

Nick Floyd informed more updates on the other facilities with the track and soccer complexes being slated for completion this spring. The team facility is going to bid and hopeful for completion in the next year.

The basketball practice facility is moving along and $9 million of the $15 million goal has been raised and we are moving forward with design and development.

Nick said the goal was to keep the season ticket price at the same rates from last year, so the South Carolina game is not included in the season ticket package.
