

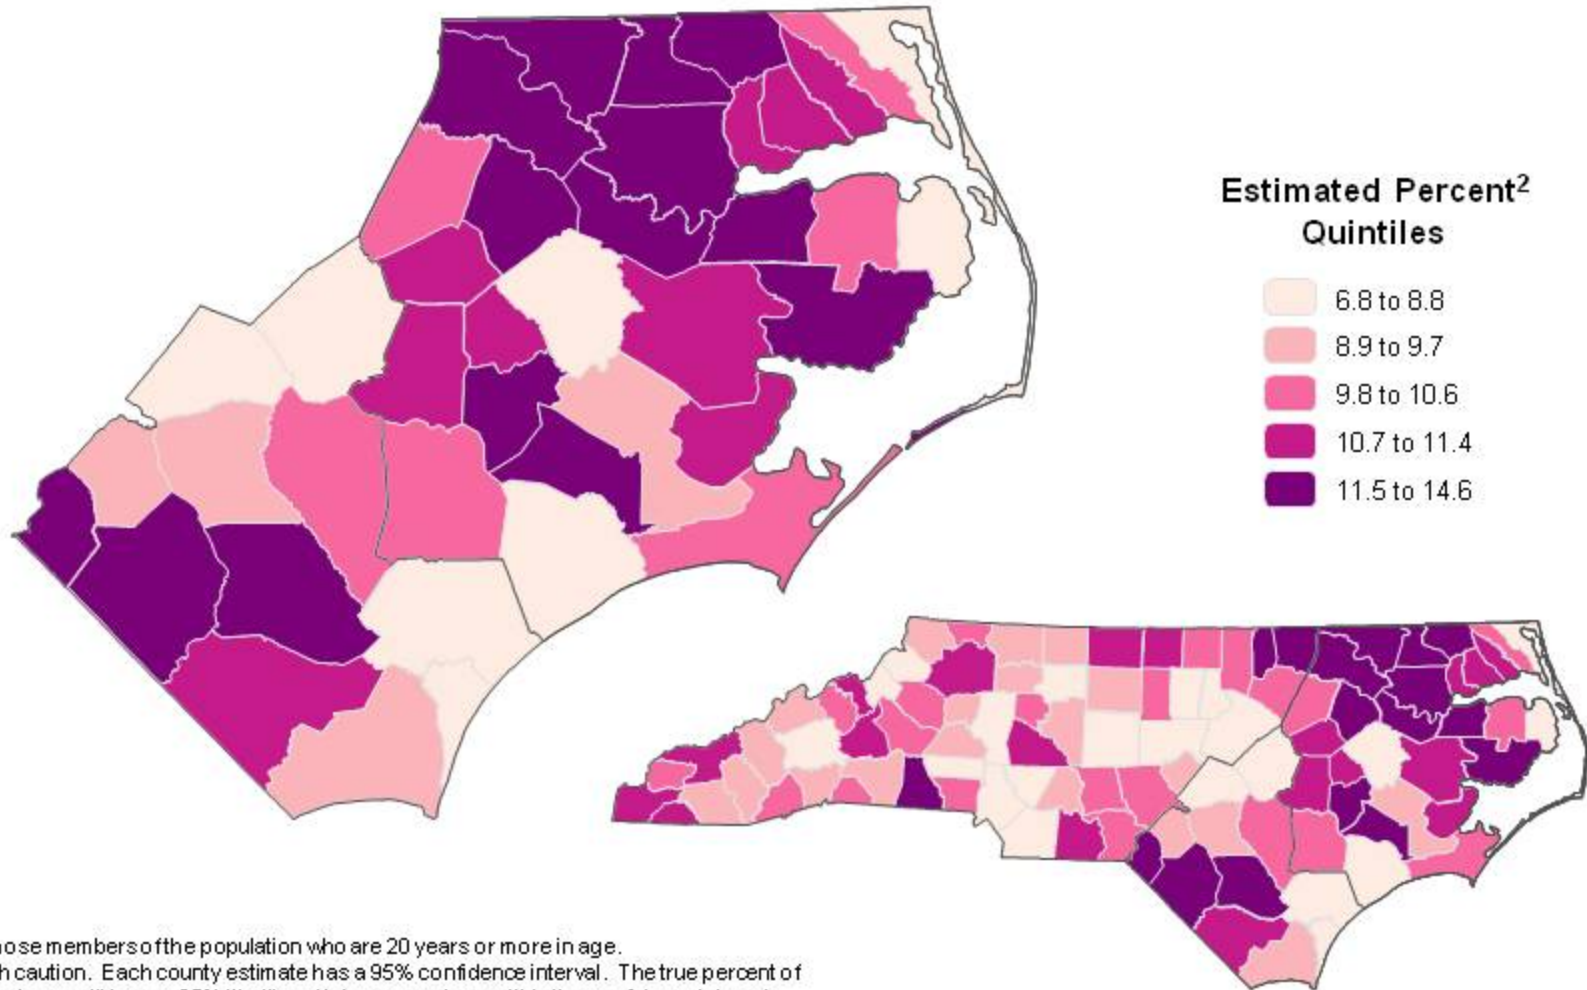

Figure 5.1

Prevalence of Diabetes Mellitus in Adults¹ 2005

¹Adults are those members of the population who are 20 years or more in age.

²Interpret with caution. Each county estimate has a 95% confidence interval. The true percent of diabetes prevalence will have a 95% likelihood lying somewhere within the confidence interval. County estimates may have intervals that overlap even when they are members of different map categories.