In your small groups, based on your knowledge and what you have learned from the presentations so far today, discuss the following question and create a list of ideas in the space below:  What should medical schools be teaching future physicians about Population Health? This sheet will be collected at the end of the session.