

Angela Schrum Stone

Currently, Angie is living in Hickory, NC and is working as a clinical director and OTR/L of a pediatric outpatient clinic. She is certified in the Sensory Integration Praxis Test and works mostly with children with sensory processing disorder and autism. She is also an Infant and Toddler Specialist. She enjoys working with children's families and seeing their joy when their child demonstrates a new skill. She is married and enjoys providing respite care to a young girl on the weekends. She also volunteers with the Walkin Roll Organization, an organization that adapts sports for children and adults with disabilities.
