

Nash and Kelly Dreyer, class of 1999, were high school sweethearts who dreamed of becoming occupational therapists together and when looking for the right college, selected ECU because of its program, location, size, friendly faculty, and charm. Their fondest memories include their fun, spontaneous, lively, driven, and at times challenging class, and the faculty who embraced them and met them every step of the way. After graduating, the two moved back to their home in Cincinnati, OH, where Nash has worked for the past 5 years in a rural community hospital treating patients all along the lifespan and recently became the primary OT in opening a new inpatient rehabilitation wing of the hospital. Kelly first worked in the local school systems and then at the Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center providing outpatient and inpatient pediatric services. After a year there, she began working with and assisting with the development of the new Neurological Diagnostic Apraxia Clinic which researches and provides diagnostic testing for children with the presumed diagnosis of Apraxia. In April of '04, Kelly made another leap and accepted a position in the Regional Center for Neonatal Intensive Care at the medical center. Nash and Kelly celebrated their 5th wedding anniversary this past November, and on February 1st, 2004, welcomed the addition of Ella Nash Dreyer to their happy family.
