COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

Department of Counselor and Adult Education

The Department of Counselor and Adult Education (COAD) is committed to providing the highest quality graduate education to diverse learners and practicing professionals in counseling and adult education throughout the state. Your gift will enable our faculty to present cutting edge research in counselor education and adult education for public schools, community colleges, higher education institutes, government and military agencies, as well as businesses and industries in our region and beyond. Scholarships and other student support will help attract the strongest candidates for our programs, thus providing practicing professionals the needed financial assistance to pursue graduate education. Funds are also needed to support faculty research and the dissemination of new knowledge and professional outreach to our collaborators, partners, alumni, and advocates in the larger community. Your gift helps COAD provide greater benefits and continuing professional development for our students, our faculty, and our constituencies.
