

Education faculty present at event

Several faculty members of East Carolina University's College of Education participated at the 2005 North Carolina Council for Exceptional Children recently in Wilmington.

Of the presentations held during the three-day conference, 25 percent were conducted by faculty from the Department of Curriculum and Instruction. In addition, Debbie Metcalf, a teacher-in-residence in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction and instructor with Pitt County Schools, delivered the conference keynote address. Metcalf is CEC's 2004 Clarissa Hug International Teacher of the Year.

"We were extremely pleased to have our faculty so well-represented at this conference," David Powers, chairman of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction, said. "With the state CEC conference held in
