State Employee’s Credit Union (SECU) Partnership East
Requirements

The ECU College of Education offers online degree completion programs in Elementary Education and Special Education through the SECU Partnership East (PE) online degree completion program. The following requirements should be considered by potential students.

Access to Technology

To successfully participate in the program, all PE students should have access to reliable high-speed internet, the minimum computer specifications, peripheral equipment, and software identified on the PE Technology Requirements document.

Students enrolled in SECU Partnership East have access to their coursework 24 hours a day, 7 days a week via the Internet. These online courses are taught by the same faculty as students enrolled in on-campus classes, and the readings, assignments, and exams mirror the on-campus sections. These programs include structured, well-designed courses and special instructional techniques to help you succeed as an online student.

Assignments and homework are submitted electronically via email or the class website, typically on a weekly basis. Many instructors give their tests online. Students will have a particular “window of opportunity” to log in and take tests. Most courses are taught using a course management system such as Blackboard or Moodle, and modules are posted in a user-friendly format. These course management systems typically have tabs or folders in which instructors can post course information, course materials and assignments for students to access with ease.

In addition, to demonstrate technology competency and meet requirements for Upper Division, all applicants must have successfully completed CIS 110 at the community college prior to admission.

Fixed Plan of Study

The Elementary Education degree completion program is offered in both full-time and part-time schedules. The Special Education degree completion program is offered in a part-time schedule. The part-time degree models were designed to accommodate students who work or have additional commitments. Students who are enrolled in PE are grouped into cohorts. A cohort is a group of students that begin the program together, follow the same course planner, and graduate together. As a member of a cohort, students may not drop courses or change the pace of the program. New part-time cohorts begin each fall semester. The new full-time elementary cohort begins each Summer II semester.
Face to Face Sessions

Although coursework is delivered online, periodic face to face meetings are required. Students are given advanced notice of all face to face sessions to prepare for travel and work considerations. Students will be required to attend the mandatory PE orientation the summer before beginning the degree completion program. They will also be required to attend one or more annual face to face sessions at a geographical location to be determined. The date and location(s) of these sessions will be provided to students by the PE Coordinator. During the senior year, all students will be required to come to the ECU campus to attend three mandatory senior seminars (Senior I meeting, Senior II initial meeting, and Senior II final seminar). Additionally, students who reside within the Latham Clinical Schools Network (LCSN) will be required to attend the COE Career Fair if offered during their Senior II internship semester. Additional sessions may be added as needed.

Advising Sessions

In addition to required meetings, PE cohort students will be required to “meet” with their advisor each semester for advising. At these advising sessions, students will discuss with their advisor the completion of all pre-requisite general education courses, progress in current courses, and future scheduled courses – as listed on the course planner. These advising sessions will be conducted virtually through Skype, phone conversations, or face to face meetings. The PE advisor will schedule these sessions in advance of registration.

NC Community College Connection and Residency

This degree completion partnership is designed specifically for students who transition from a North Carolina community college. Students must be residents of NC to participate in our degree completion program. If a student moves out of state, he or she will no longer be eligible to remain in the program.

Face to Face Field Experiences

Field experiences (i.e. Practicum) in NC public school classrooms will be required throughout the program. These generally require 15 to 40 clock hours in schools each semester.

During the semester prior to the full-time internship (Senior I), students will be expected to report to their NC public school assignment one full day each week. Students may be required to resign from any employment or take a leave of absence in order to complete a 15-week (Senior II) full-time internship in the NC public schools. There are specific guidelines established for those employed as teacher assistants.
