

East Carolina University

Tomorrow starts here.

“The Tar River Writing Project steeped me in a writing community that continues even now that my summer institute experience has ended. This community sustains my writing and teaching life by inspiring me, encouraging me, giving me feedback on my writing, and sharing its writing and teaching journeys with me.”

JENNIFER SHARPE-SALTER, PAST PARTICIPANT

Tar River Writing Project Summer Institute

JUNE 26, 2008–JULY 25, 2008 • EAST CAROLINA UNIVERSITY'S MAIN CAMPUS

Become a better teacher as you learn to help your students become better writers.

Whether you teach kindergartners, college students, or anyone in between, you can benefit from the Tar River Writing Project Summer Institute. This intensive four-week program features teaching demonstrations as well as small-group reading and writing activities that promote more effective writing instruction and practice.

Space is limited. For more information and application information, visit us online at www.trwp.org.