

Sandra Andrews

Assistant Professor

University of North Carolina at Greensboro

sdandre2@uncg.edu

Dr. Sandra Andrews is an Assistant Professor at UNC-Greensboro. She has worked as both a media specialist and a district media supervisor. Sandra has presented both regionally and nationally on school library media topics and is active in ALA, AASL and NCSLMA. Sandra is currently the Chair of AASL Affiliate Assembly and a member of the ALA Committee on Professional Ethics. She served as president of NCSLMA in 2005-06.

Mary L. Boone

State Librarian

Mary.boone@ncdcr.gov

Mary L. Boone was appointed State Librarian of North Carolina in November 2005. Prior to coming to the State Library, Mary was a Foreign Service Library and Information Resource Officer with the United States Information Agency and the U.S. Department of State from 1985 – 2005, during which time she rose to the rank of Senior Foreign Service. Mary's service included tours in Asia, Europe, the Middle East, and Washington, D.C. Prior to joining Foreign Service, Mary served as director of the Chapel Hill Public Library from 1978 to 1985 and was a founding member of the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association. She is also a member of the American Library Association. A native of North Carolina, Mary received her BA and MSLS degrees from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The School of Information and Library Science Alumni Association presented her with its Distinguished Alumni Award in December 2003. Mary was presented with the 2009 Library Director of the Year award by the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association.

Lauren Boucher

AIG Teacher, Stokes School

Pitt County Schools

bouchel.stk@pitt.k12.nc.us

Lauren Boucher has lived in Greenville all of her life and has worked for Pitt County Schools for the past 4 1/2 years. She taught 3rd grade for 4 years, and is currently the AIG teacher at Stokes School. She has been using and working with SMART boards for the past 2 years and LOVES THEM!!

Charlotte Bourdeau

Library/Media Coordinator

Newport Middle/Carteret County Complete

charlotte.bourdeau@carteretk12.org

Charlotte Bourdeau has been an educator for more than 20 years. After six years in the elementary classroom, she earned her MLS in Library and Information Studies in 1997. As a school librarian, she has worked at the elementary, middle and high school levels. She earned NBPTS certification in 2002.

Gloria Bradshaw

Lab Manager, Senior Conservation Technician, Joyner Library
East Carolina University
bradshawg@ecu.edu

Gloria Bradshaw has worked as the Conservation Lab Manager of the Preservation and Conservation unit in Joyner Library at East Carolina University since 1993. She is a member of the Joyner Library Disaster Committee and serves as Salvage Coordinator. Gloria oversees all conservation treatments in the unit and is responsible for ensuring all Environmental Health and Safety regulations are followed. Her training and research include art courses at ECU such as drawing and design, Solinet workshops in Preservation and Disaster planning, Book and Paper repair, Deacidification treatments, Mold Recovery and Library binding for preservation. In pursuit of her training and research, Gloria has traveled from North Carolina to Maryland attending workshops at such institutions as ECU, NCSU, UNC-Chapel Hill, Etherington Conservation Center, and Johns Hopkins. She received the ECU Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Innovation in 1996.

Kelly Brannock

School Library Media Consultant Department of Public Instruction kbrannock@dpi.state.nc.us

Kelly Brannock is the new School Library Media Consultant at DPI's Instructional Technology Division. She is a National Board Certified Teacher in Library Media and a second career teacher with 11 years of experience as a Media Coordinator in both Transylvania County and Wake County Public Schools. She holds a MLS from San Jose State University (CA) and an MPA (Public Administration) from California State University.

Beth Briggs

Past Chair, Stonewall Book Awards
East Carolina University
briggse@ecu.edu

Beth is a past chair of the American Library Association's Stonewall Book Award, the oldest GLBT book award in America. While chair, she and the Book Award Committee created the Stonewall Children's/YA award. The inaugural award was presented at the American Library Association's annual meeting last year in Washington, DC. She is a Teaching Instructor in the Library Science Department where she teaches undergraduate Storytelling and Children's Literature courses.

Frances B. Bradburn

Former Director, Instructional Technology
North Carolina Department of Public Instruction fbradbur@gmail.com

Frances Bryant Bradburn is a program director for the North Carolina New Schools Project who focuses on the 1:1 learning initiative pilot for the state. The former Director of Instructional Technology for NCDPI, Frances is a graduate of Wake Forest University and UNC-G's Department of Library and Information Science. She has worked at the K-12, university, and state levels in a variety of media and technology positions. The former editor of North Carolina Libraries, Ms. Bradburn is author of Output Measures for School Library Programs; reviews young adult titles for Booklist, and has written a variety of journal articles on both media and technology. Her current professional affiliations are with the American Library Association, the North Carolina School Library Media Association, the North Carolina Library Association, and the North Carolina Technology in Education Society. Ms. Bradburn was awarded the Mary Peacock Douglas Award in 1998, the UNC-G/SLIS Outstanding Alumnus in 1995, the East Carolina University Friend of Education in 2007, the NCLA Distinguished Service Award in 2007, the NCAECT Service Award in 2008, and North Carolina Association of School Librarians, Distinguished Service Award (now known as the Frances Bryant Bradburn Distinguished Service Award), October 2008.

Evelyn Bussell

Media Specialist

Douglas Creative Arts & Science Magnet Elementary

ebussell@wcpss.net

Evelyn Bussell is a National Board Certified Teacher and has been a media specialist for eight years. She has presented at conferences at NCSLMA, ALA, AASL, and facilitated at ECU's Librarian to Librarian Networking Summit. Ms. Bussell is a member of NCSLMA, ALA, AASL, and ALSC. She currently serves as the Piedmont East Director of NCSLMA. She graduated from ECU with her BS in History and completed her MSLS at UNC-Chapel Hill.

Patch Clark

Professor, School of Theatre and Dance

East Carolina University

Clarkp@ecu.edu

Patricia "Patch" Clark (Director- ECU Storybook Theatre) is an Associate Professor and Coordinator of the Theatre Education and Theatre for Youth programs in the School of Theatre and Dance at East Carolina University. She has appeared in numerous ECU/Loessin Playhouse and ECU/Loessin Summer Theatre productions including Grease, My Fair Lady, Inherit the Wind, A Doll's House, Misalliance, Our Town, The Sound of Music, Oklahoma, A View from the Bridge, Crazy for You, Yerma, Grapes of Wrath, The Time of Your Life, Footloose, Arsenic and Old Lace at the Turnage Theatre in Washington, N.C. and The Crucible. She directed the Off-Broadway premiere production of Katmandu at the John Houseman Studio Theatre in July of 2001. She also serves as the director for ECU's Storybook Theatre for children and youth. Original productions for Storybook Theatre include Tales From Around The World, My Hero Reaching for the Stars, All Aboard America! and All Aboard, South America! Other Storybook Theatre productions include The Lion, The Witch, and the Wardrobe, Jungle Book, Willy Wonka, and Charlotte's Web. For more information about ECU's Storybook Theatre go to www.theatre/dance.ecu.edu.

Donna Corbo

Media Specialist

Currituck Middle School

dcorbo@currituck.k12.nc.us

Donna Corbo has been a media specialist at Currituck County Middle School for 10 years. She has achieved National Board Certification and has received her post graduate degree in Instructional Leadership from North Central University. Mrs. Corbo has presented at state and national conferences. She lives in Currituck County with her husband, Ken and two dogs Ruger and Princess.

Melissa Corso

School Services Librarian
Braswell Memorial Library
mcorso@braswell-library.org

Melissa Corso is a MLIS graduate of the University of Pittsburgh. She is currently at Braswell Memorial Library as the School Services Librarian and also the Outreach Librarian for the CCOW (Computer Classroom on Wheels). Melissa has experience as a school media specialist in both Virginia and North Carolina.

Penny Dawson

Media Coordinator
E.B. Frink Middle School
pdawson@lenoir.k12.nc.us

Penny Dawson is a National Board Certified Teacher in Library Media who has served as Media Coordinator at E.B. Frink Middle School for 14 years. She had 15 years experience teaching both elementary and middle school Language Arts. She graduated magna cum laude from East Carolina University in 1979 and received her Master of Library Science from there in 2000. She holds several leadership roles in her school and facilitates staff development. She is active in her church and community. She considers herself a life-long learner and enjoys attending conferences and promoting literacy.

Tim DeCresie

Coordinator of Instructional Technology and Media Services
Pitt County Schools
tdecresie@pitt.k12.nc.us

Cathy Dupre

Media Coordinator
Oaklawn Language Academy, Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools
c.dupre@cms.k12.nc.us

Cathy DuPre is in her nineteenth year of education and in her ninth year as a Media Specialist in language immersion programs. She has been named Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools' Gertrude Coward Award Winner for 2009-2010. She has presented workshops for her district (CMS), NCDPI Second Languages Teachers' and Administrators' Institutes, and has served as a panelist and presented workshops for NCSLMA. Cathy has developed and shared her toolkit for services to the Spanish-speaking (a guide of resources for the elementary school library Media Specialist). She has written and received numerous grants for project based interdisciplinary units of study, is a two time Time Warner Crystal Apple National Teacher Award Winner and has been named to "Who's Who Among American Teachers."

Cheryl Esarey

AIG Teacher

EM Eppes Middle School

esareyc.cme@pitt.k12.nc.us

Cheryl Esarey is a 23-year teacher with 17 years of AIG education from K-8th grade. Her devotion to learners has led her to be a science Olympiad coach, director of school plays and musicals, JR Beta advisor, Geography Bee, Spelling Bee, and math fair coordinator; NC PIMS Science facilitator, Kaufmann Foundation Entrepreneurship Teacher Trainer, co-founder of the Pitt County Schools Camp Focus, and a second-year facilitator at this conference.

Maliha Farhadi

Library Technical Assistant, Teaching Resources Center

East Carolina University

Farhadim@ecu.edu

Maliha Farhadi is originally from Kabul, Afghanistan. She is married to Dr. Abdul-Shakoor Farhadi and has two children. She came to the United States as a Fulbright graduate student attending NC State University. Her MA is in ESL (Teaching English as a Second Language). She taught English at different levels, primary school to university, for fifteen years. Maliha moved to Greenville and started working in Joyner Library's Circulation Department and later moved to the Teaching Resources Center. She has also earned her Master of Library Science. Teaching foreign students and working with the public has given her a broad perspective of understanding diverse populations such as race, age, religion, and cultural background.

Delane Fuquay

Media Coordinator

Farmville Middle School

fuquayd@embarqmail.com

After being a Language Arts and Social Studies teacher for many years, Delane decided to obtain a Master's degree in Library Science at the age of fifty. She has taught grades 4-7 and even taught 2nd grade for a short time! Delane is currently the Media Coordinator at Farmville Middle School in Farmville. She is also the Battle of the Books Coach, Lead Mentor, Pitt County MTAC middle school representative and National Junior Honor Society Sponsor. When not in school, she enjoys boating with her husband and their dog Bailey and of course READING! They are the parents of two sons, ages 27 and 25.

Karen Gavigan

Assistant Professor

School of Library and Information Science

University of South Carolina

kgavigan@mailbox.sc.edu

Karen Gavigan is an Assistant Professor in the School of Library and Information Science at the University of South Carolina. She was formerly a school librarian for over 15 years and also served as the Director of the Teaching Resources Center at UNC Greensboro. Karen's research examines the ways in which reluctant male adolescent readers respond to graphic novels.

Carol Gehringer

Media Coordinator

GRACE Christian School

cgehringer@gracechristian.net

Carol Gehringer earned her teaching certificate at ECU in 2009. She graduated from the University of Michigan with a BA in English and MILS. Carol has 25 years of experience in a variety of libraries including 13 years at the University of Michigan, 12 years in corporate libraries, and 4 years at a school library. She wrote a reference book, The World Bank, in 1988. Carol served as a reviewer for Mountainside Publishers, 1988-1992. She currently is a reviewer for Christian Library Journal, and for the Teen Lit Review Blog.

Joanna Gerakios

Instructional Technology and Media Specialist

Pitt County Schools

gerakij@pitt.k12.nc.us

Joanna Gerakios has a BS in Middle Grades Education and a MLS from ECU. She has taught 8th grade language arts and social studies, and worked as a school media coordinator. Since first entering the public library as a child, and later as a parent and educator, she has been a library enthusiast. Joanna has an interest in bringing books and technology together to energize education and empower students. She currently works to facilitate instructional technology and media programs as an Instructional Technology and Media Specialist for the Pitt County school system.

Tracie A. Hampton

Preservation/Conservation Technician, Joyner Library

East Carolina University

hamptont@ecu.edu

Tracie is a Conservation Technician with Joyner Library's Preservation and Conservation unit and has training in book conservation and repair from the Ethington Conservation Center and the North Carolina Preservation Consortium. She also brings to Joyner her varied experiences from over a quarter century of working in academic, school and public libraries, and museums. After earning a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Studies from California State University San Bernardino, she married a career United States Marine and spent the next 20 years moving about the country. Upon his retirement from the Marines, Tracie and her husband decided to settle in beautiful eastern North Carolina. An avid sailing enthusiast, she is active in the Ragged Point Yacht Club as the club's historian.

Deanna Harris

Media Specialist

East Cary Middle School

dharris@wcpss.net

Deanna Harris is a National Board Certified Teacher and has been an educator for twenty years, having been a middle grades language arts teacher, an educator-on-loan at the NC Department of Public Instruction, and a middle grades media and technology coordinator. She has presented workshops and facilitated presentations for her school and local district as well as other districts, and for state and national organizations, including NCSLMA, AASL, and NSDC. She currently serves as the president of NCSLMA. She graduated from Meredith College with a BA in English and completed her MLS at NCCU.

Jami L. Jones

Assistant Professor
East Carolina University
jonesj@ecu.edu

Jami Jones is an assistant professor in the Department of Library Science at East Carolina University. Her research interests, presentations, and writings include resiliency, dropout prevention, and dispositions. Her most recent book is Tales out of the School Library: Developing Professional Dispositions, which is co-authored with Gail Bush. Jami's second book on the dropout issue, Why Students Give Up: The School Librarian's Response to Disengagement and Dropout, should be available through Libraries Unlimited in fall 2012.

Vivian Lamm

Media Coordinator
Northwest Elementary
vivianlamm@wcps.org

Vivian Lamm is a NBCT media coordinator with 17 years experience in a K-5 school with 950 students. She has previous experience as a grade 1-5 classroom teacher & remedial reading teacher. Vivian grew up in Johnston County on a working farm. Presently, she lives in Wilson County with her husband on his family farm which they have owned since 1740. Vivian's favorite past time is reading, "too much to read, too little time."

Cheryl Lederle-Ensign

Educational Resources Specialist
Library of Congress
cled@loc.gov

Cheryl Lederle-Ensign has worked as an Educational Resources Specialist at the Library of Congress since December of 2003. In that role, she has advanced the Library's educational mission by providing more than 1,000 teachers with professional development through workshops, presentations, and intensive institutes, both in person and via videoconference. She has also played a significant role in shaping the Library's online repository of classroom materials and resources for teachers, loc.gov/teachers, and continues to contribute to the development of those materials. Ms. Lederle holds a B.A. from Kent State University, an M.A.T. from the University of Chicago, and a Masters Degree in Library and Information Science from Syracuse University. She has 15 years' experience teaching English at both the high school and community college levels.

Rob McDaniel

Barnes & Noble
Greenville, NC
crm2775@bn.com

Nancy May

Manager, Youth Services
Charlotte Mecklenburg Library
nrmay24@aol.com

Nancy May has worked closely with schools and students of all ages as a public librarian, storyteller and media specialist. She received her MLS from Catholic University of America, Washington DC, and media specialist certificate from UNC - Greensboro. She is currently Manager of Youth Services at the University City Regional Library in Charlotte and has been telling stories to kids and adults for more than 20 years. She believes that stories can inspire, teach, enlighten, console, heal, connect and enrich the human spirit.

Sheila Mendoza

Media Coordinator, South Central High School
Pitt County Schools
mendozs.schs@pitt.k12.nc.us

Sheila Mendoza earned a BS in Library Science and a MAEd from East Carolina University. Her experience includes: two years in public librarianship, ten years as a reference librarian at the community college level and 29 years as a school media coordinator. Currently, she is the media coordinator at South Central High School in Pitt County. Sheila was awarded National Board Teacher Certification in 2003 and was named Pitt County Schools Media Coordinator of the Year in 2005 and 2008.

Marci Merritt

Media Coordinator
Roanoke Rapids High School
merrittm.rrhs@rrgsd.org

Marci Merritt earned her BA in Elementary Education and English from the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, and her MLS from North Carolina Central University in Durham, NC. She is currently a media specialist at Roanoke Rapids High School. Previously Mrs. Merritt taught middle school for nine years. She also holds her North Carolina Public Librarian Certification, and has been a member of the Roanoke Rapids Public Library Advisory Committee for the past eight years.

Ralph Moore

Professional Development Specialist
SAS
ralph.moore@sas.com

Ralph Moore is a professional development specialist with SAS® Curriculum Pathways®. He works with schools and organizations around the country and has presented at conferences for organizations such as the National Council for the Social Studies and the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development. A former army officer and social studies teacher, he spent 10 years on the SAS® Curriculum Pathways® humanities team creating new digital curriculum products.

Amy Myers

Media Specialist

Wake Forest-Rolesville High School

amyers@wcpss.net

Amy Myers is a national board certified media specialist at Wake Forest-Rolesville High School.

Raye Oldham

Federal Programs Consultant

State Library of North Carolina

raye.oldham@ncdcr.gov

Raye Oldham is from the State Library of North Carolina where she has recently been appointed the Federal Programs Consultant. Prior to that position she had been the Continuing Education Consultant since 2003. Her primary responsibilities at the State Library have involved planning, coordinating, implementing, and evaluating North Carolina's annual statewide program of continuing education and staff development for staff of public and academic libraries. She is the project manager for the Master Trainer Program, an intensive train the trainer program for library staff. Raye grew up in Michigan then moved to Arizona, Mississippi, California and Alaska before moving to North Carolina in 1996. She obtained her MLS from UNC Greensboro in 2002.

Beth O'Briant

Library Assistant

Currituck County Public Schools

bobriant@currituck.k12.nc.us

Beth O'Briant and Mary Simmons have presented often at NCSLMA conferences, aka the Lucy and Ethel of the library. Beth has been a library assistant for 6 years and previously has served as testing assistant for Currituck for 13 years.

Michele Oros

Director of Grants and Development

Beaufort County Schools

moros@beaufort.k12.nc.us

Ms. Oros has been employed as Director of Grants and Development for Beaufort County Schools in Washington, North Carolina since March 2003. Professional duties include creation and management of grant-funded programs and budgets. Prior to her position as Grant Director, Ms. Oros served as School Library Media Coordinator at elementary and high school levels for 14 years. Ms. Oros earned an Educational Specialist Degree in Curriculum and Instruction from East Carolina University and a Master of Arts in Library and Media Services from Appalachian State University.

Mary Ellen Oxendine

Media Coordinator

Cumberland County Schools-Gray's Creek

maryellenoxendine@ccs.k12.nc.us

Mary Ellen Oxendine is a Media Coordinator with Cumberland County Schools. She is currently serving the needs of students at Gray's Creek Middle School, where she has been since August, 2008. She is also an adjunct professor for Robeson Community College and Fayetteville Technical Community College. Prior to coming to Gray's Creek Middle School, Mary Ellen worked in Henrico County, Virginia, at Fairfield Middle School. She has taught a range of students from kindergarten to high school. Mary Ellen completed her MLS in 2007 from Texas Woman's University and her MAT from Mary Baldwin College in 2004. She and her husband Hampton live in Cumberland County with their three children and their new Shih Tzu puppy.

Julie Perry

Media Coordinator

Croatan High School

julie.perry@carteretk12.org

Julie Perry has been teaching for the past 16 years. Eight of those years were spent in middle school Language Arts and high school English. She has spent the last eight years as a media coordinator at Croatan High School. Julie graduated from East Carolina University with a BS in English in 1993 and a MLS in 2003. She also obtained National Board Certification in 2003.

Lesley Richardson

Media and Web Librarian

LEARN NC

lrichardson@learnnc.org

Lesley Richardson is the Media and Web Librarian for LEARN NC and has been with the organization since 1998. She publishes educational articles, lesson plans, field trip opportunities, and provides customer service. Lesley has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Sociology and Urban Studies from Jacksonville University in Jacksonville, Florida.

Mary Simmons

Library Media Specialist

Currituck County Public Schools

msimmons@currituck.k12.nc.us

Mary Simmons and Beth O'Briant have presented often at NCSLMA conferences, aka the Lucy and Ethel of the library. Mary has been a media specialist in North Carolina for 21 years and has served at the elementary, middle, and high school levels.

Sarah Steele

Curriculum Materials/Media Librarian

Campbell University

steeles@campbell.edu

Sarah Steele is the Curriculum Materials/Media Librarian at Campbell University. As such, she serves students and faculty in the School of Education. She received her MLS from East Carolina University in 2006 and is pursuing a second MLS from North Carolina Central University while working full time. She has taught collaborative Geocaching projects with colleagues since 2006.

Alesia Stevenson

Mackin Educational Services

alesia.stevenson@mackin.com

Alesia Stevenson is the local consultant for Mackin Educational Services. She holds a MLS and has 15 years experience in a variety of educational areas. Stevenson has managed and mentored a variety of school media centers and shares that comprehensive experience with her customers. Stevenson is a contributor to the UNC Press publication The Encyclopedia of North Carolina History. She also serves on the Vance Granville Community College Arts and Sciences Advisory Board and works at her local public library to improve electronic resources and community outreach on a volunteer basis.

Mindy Tomasevich

Media Coordinator

mtomasevich@wcpss.net

Mindy Tomasevich is a middle school media coordinator and a National Board Certified teacher. She began a graphic novel collection with grant funds for a program that integrated graphic novels into literature circle reading groups, and has presented to librarians about the benefits of graphic novels in school libraries.

Patrick Valentine

Assistant Professor, Library Science

East Carolina University

ValentineP@ecu.edu

Patrick Valentine headed the North Carolina Foreign Language Center, a statewide library project from 1979 to 1985, after which he was director of the Wilson County Public Library in North Carolina for twenty years. He joined East Carolina's library science faculty in 2006 and has written on minority languages in libraries and on the history of libraries, mainly in North Carolina, as well as two books of local history. He is married with a grown daughter. He has served for extended periods on the board of the North Carolina Library Association, was president of its Public Library Section, and was active in the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association, as well as a member of American Library Association and the Southeastern Library Association. He has also taken leadership roles in local civic, education and religious groups, and was Chair of ECU Senate Libraries Committee in 2009-2010.

Joan Vey

Media Specialist

Wake Forest-Rolesville High School

jvey@wcpss.net

Joan Vey is a media specialist at the ninth grade center at Wake Forest-Rolesville High School. Joan brings a wealth of public library and K-12 experience.

Karen Brown Waller, MSLS, NBCT

Library Media Specialist

kwaller@wcpss.net

Jeff Watson

Head Librarian

Roanoke Rapids Library

jwatson@roanokerapidsnc.com

Jeff Watson earned his B.S. in Secondary Education with concentrations in Library Science and Mathematics from Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA and his M.L.S. from North Carolina Central University in Durham, NC. He graduated from library school with honors and was installed into Beta Phi Mu in 2007. He is currently the Head Librarian at Roanoke Rapids Public Library having been selected for the position in 2008. He served as Youth Services Librarian at Roanoke Rapids Public Library for a year prior to his promotion as Head Librarian. He received certification as a public librarian from the North Carolina Public Library Certification Commission in 2007. He is a member of the American Library Association with Roundtable Memberships in YALSA and ALSC, the North Carolina Library Association and the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association. He has been nominated to serve as an Executive Committee Member of the North Carolina Public Library Directors Association pending election in December 2010.

Elaine Yontz

Professor, Department of Library Science

East Carolina University

yontzm@ecu.edu

Elaine is chair of the ECU Department of Library Science.