Undergraduate Internship Guidelines
Department of Political Science

Mission
The purpose of the ECU Political Science Department’s undergraduate internship program is to afford students an opportunity to integrate and apply academic knowledge and principles with practical job experience.

Eligibility, Requirements, and Responsibilities
All students who are political science majors at East Carolina University with at least a 3.0 grade point average in their political science courses are eligible to register for credit for internships. For approval of credit, all internships must meet the following criteria:

(1) Internships must be related to experiences in practical politics or public administration. Any internship with an organization or office that does not share goals consistent with East Carolina University’s mission statement will not be approved for credit.

(2) The employer must provide supervised training and on the job learning experiences (at a professional level) for the student. Jobs that merely require the student to perform clerical or routine tasks are not considered internships. In addition, any internship that operates from a home office or includes personal errands as part of the job description is not acceptable.

(3) The internship must run concurrently with the semester.

Internship courses include: POLS 4981 and POLS 4982 (Internship in Practical Politics) or POLS 4991 and POLS 4992 (Internship in Public Administration). For students willing to work additional hours in their internship and complete additional assignments, they may also register for POLS 4521 and POLS 4522 (Directed Readings). The three-credit or six-credit internship will count as an elective toward the fulfillment of degree requirements.

All prospective interns must complete the following requirements or meet the following conditions:

(1) Meet with the undergraduate faculty supervisor to discuss the student’s career goals and the type of internship that will be most valuable in helping the student achieve his or her career goals.

(2) After meeting with the faculty supervisor, students must locate and secure the internship.

(3) Upon securing the internship, students must have their internship supervisor complete the approval letter and return it to the professor supervising the internship before the semester’s first day of classes.

(4) Students must complete the ECU political science department’s internship contract and sign a liability statement. All contracts must be signed by the student, the faculty supervisor, and the chair of the political science department who must approve the contract before the student is permitted to register for the internship course. Contracts must be completed no later than one day before the official beginning of classes for the semester. Students should not start working at their internship until their contract has been approved.

(5) Upon completion of the internship, an evaluation form must be completed by the student’s internship supervisor. Students are also required to complete and submit their academic work outlined in their contract to the professor supervising their internship by the last day of classes for the semester. Work submitted after the last day of classes may be subject to penalties as deemed appropriate by the professor.

(6) Internships may be paid or unpaid.

(7) A three-credit internship requires 125 hours of internship experience per semester. For six credits, students must complete 250 hours of internship experience per semester. Academic credit is awarded on a letter grade basis.

(8) Upon accepting an internship, students are expected to behave as professionals at the workplace. This means that student interns should always show up to work on time, dress appropriately, act friendly and courteously, and use good judgment (i.e., no excessively long lunch breaks, avoid the use of foul language, no offensive jokes, etc.). For additional information on what “to do” and what “not to do” when working as an intern, please see: http://www.stolaf.edu/services/cel/students/Internships_Professionalism.html.

Additional Information

East Carolina University is committed to promoting a work environment free of sexual harassment. For information concerning sexual harassment policies, please see: http://www.ecu.edu/cs-admin/equity/upload/Sex_Harass_Policy.pdf.

A student who has been the victim of sexual harassment or a similarly serious dispute with the employer should contact his or her faculty supervisor immediately. The faculty supervisor will remove the student from the internship and make alternative arrangements for the student to earn credits in the internship courses. Conversely, any reports from an employer concerning sexual harassment committed by a student at the workplace or of another severe workplace infraction committed by a student will be treated seriously, and could result in failing grades for the student in their internship courses.

East Carolina University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action University and complies with the Americans for Disabilities Act (ADA). If you have special needs for a covered disability, please visit the Department for Disability Support Services located in 138 Slay, or call 252-737-1016.
