SUBJECT: Graduate School Update: Spring 2020 P/F Approved for Graduate Students

This message is a follow-up to the Emergency Grading Accommodation announcement, which was emailed to all students and faculty on Monday, March 23rd. That original announcement can now be found on the ECU COVID-19 website in the “Latest Info” box.

There are two updates to the Emergency Grading Accommodation announcement. First, students in the College of Nursing, both undergraduate and graduate, will be exempt from the Emergency Grading Accommodation policy. All Nursing courses will be graded on the current grading scale as published in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs. The medical student curriculum and dental student curriculum will also be exempt from the Emergency Grading Accommodation policy. Grading for medical and dental students will follow current grading policies outlined in their respective handbooks.

Second, the Emergency Grading Accommodation applies to all graduate students with the exception previously described for Nursing, Medical, and Dental students. Graduate students with questions should speak with their academic advisor or graduate program director.

We encourage all students to review the ECU COVID-19 website on a regular basis and continue to check their ECU email daily for current information and updates.
